LEAD COACH: TALENT PROGRAMME

Title:	Lead Coach – Talent Programme, Great Britain Wheelchair Rugby
Location:	Mobile workplace, (mainly Lilleshall, with some requirement to scout across GBWR club locations, plus an occasional international commitment)
Remuneration:	GBWR coaches hourly rate, (capped for Training Camps) variation by agreement dependent on skills, and experience
Reports to:	National Development Director

Great Britain Wheelchair Rugby (GBWR) is the National Governing Body (NGB) for the sport in England Scotland and Wales. The GB team is currently ranked 5th in the world , first in Europe and is targeting a medal position at the Tokyo games.

Our current Talent Lead Coach is now working with the GB team and so a fantastic opportunity has arisen for an ambitious and committed individual to further develop our Talent Programme. You will be an experienced coach, with at least 3 years of experience in a wheelchair rugby coaching environment. You will know what it takes to create a winning culture and you will be committed to creating a supportive learning environment. Crucial to the role is the ability to drive progressive training plans and the talent curriculum. In addition to taking overall charge of the talent development squad you will be responsible for working closely with the Talent Programme Manager, the Assistant Coach, the Regional Training Centre coaches and the GBWR Head Coach to ensure we have effective pathways for athlete and coach development to ensure sustained success long after Tokyo 2020. Most important will be your ability to command widespread respect and inspire confidence in your ability to deliver consistent success. This is a challenging role and if you feel you are up for it then we would like to hear from you.
